THE RECORD.... Facts That Concern You — No. 30 of a Series

A BAD ONE DOES TURN UP ONCE IN A WHILE!

Good weather and a bumper crop! Even then one finds a poor stalk once in a while.

The retailing of beer is something like that. Most beer retailers operate respectable law-abiding establishments. Occasionally one finds an exception—a man who tries to beat the law or who permits anti-social conditions.

The beer industry wants this type of undesirable retailer stamped out. Your cooperation will help us in our clean-up efforts.

The beer industry brings important benefits to the community. Here in Virginia, beer provides employment for 16,578 persons, supports an annual payroll of $14,106,965 and contributed $1,792,945.12 last year in state taxes.

Virginia, too, has an important stake in the beer industry's purchases—for materials, equipment, and services—from over 100 other industries.

You can help us protect these benefits in two ways. First—patronize only the reputable places where beer is sold. Second—report to the proper authorities any law violation you may observe.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL
SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D.
Dean of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for September 14

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

THE ETERNAL GOD, THE SOURCE OF HELP

LESSON TEXT—Revelation 7:9-17.
GOLDEN TEXT—Holy, holy, holy, Lord God Almighty, which was, and is, and is to come.—Revelation 4:8.

A look into the future is something that would interest most of us, and we have it in this lesson. We agree with Dr. Wilbur Smith that "this is an excellent opportunity to bring to the hearts of our pupils some of these divinely revealed truths which the world, in its mad push today, so easily and tragically puts aside."

The portion of Revelation, chapter seven, which is before us comes immediately after a section dealing with Israel. The Church is not mentioned. The ones spoken of have come out of "the great tribulation" (as the Revised Version rightly translates it) and are evidently Gentiles who have come to believe in Christ during that time of unparalleled tribulation described in the later chapters of this book.

Our lesson therefore deals with a specific time and a certain people in connection with an event yet to take place. But we find in this passage the description of the experiences of those who, like Christians of our day, triumphed through their saving faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. We may therefore here learn something of the future blessedness of the redeemed.

I. Saved Forever and Ever (vv. 9-12).

Salvation is a reality, and we are never going to be more certain of it than when we, like this multitude, stand in God's presence to praise Him for what He has done in our lives. It is real. Praise God!

Notice that there was an unnumbered multitude from all nations. The good tidings at the time of Christ's birth were for all people (Luke 2:10), and some from all nations respond. Note too that the hosts of the Lord are greater than we might at first suppose.

These redeemed ones had immediate access to God's throne, offering their praise direct. They were clad in the white robes of God's own purity and bore in their hands the palms of victory. They, with the angels, the elders (possibly representing the Church already caught up into heaven), and the living creatures (not "beasts" as in A.V. They are divine beings of highest character), ascribed a seven-fold praise to God "forever and ever. Amen."..It is a glorious picture of completed redemption.

II. Serving Day and Night (vv. 13-15a).

It should be observed that even those who came through the great tribulation did not look to their own deeds or faithfulness to save them. Their white robes of righteousness were washed in "the blood of the Lamb" (v. 14).

Now that they had reached eternity through peril, toil and pain, they would (according to many folks' idea of heaven) sit down for an eternal rest and retirement. Not at all—they found their joy in serving their blessed Lord "night and day"; that is, without any weakness or exhaustion, without any failures or defeat.

III. Satisfied Throughout Eternity (vv. 15b-17).

To be covered by the "tabernacle" of God (whatever it may mean) surely betokens the perfect and constant protection of His own presence. Everything destructive and disturbing will be gone. There will be no lack of any good thing needed to satisfy every desire. There will be no thirst unquenched and no hunger unsatisfied (see similar descriptive passage in Rev. 21:3, 4).

The redeemed are said to be under the tender care of the Good Shepherd Himself; the Lamb (our Redeemer) who is in the midst of God's throne shall lead them, not beside "the still waters" of the Twenty-third Psalm, but "unto living fountains of water." Thus in the beauty of figurative speech, we are assured that God's provision for His children, the redeemed in Christ Jesus, will perfectly satisfy every need of soul and spirit. There is no such satisfaction this side of eternity, but we shall find it there.

Then too, there is to be no sorrow. God Himself is the guarantee that there shall be nothing in that blessed land to cause anyone to shed a tear. Think what that means! Think of the weeping of boys and girls, men and women, who in this world of hatred, sin and suffering, shed bitter tears of pain or sorrow. Well, it were almost enough to know that heaven is a place where there shall be no tears.

Remember that the promises of joyous completed redemption for those, the Gentile believers of the great tribulation, will be for all God's children, for us who believe in Christ. Reader, will you not join us today if you are still an unbeliever? Take Christ now as your Saviour.
